

Mrs. C. E. Dye

RETURNS THANKS FOR THE LIBERAL PATRONAGE SHE has received since the opening of her New Millinery Parlors, as it has been greater than expected; also, for the many compliments both from ladies and gentlemen, of her good taste in the selection of such an elegant and large stock of goods, and of the artistic arrangement of the same in her beautiful parlors, she having been east to make her own selection, and by being under no obligation there, was at liberty to make her purchases where she pleased. By so doing she became acquainted with many different houses, which has enabled her to purchase the finest and greatest variety ever brought to this market, at prices which will enable her to give satisfaction to all classes, and will be constantly receiving the latest styles and greatest variety from those different houses through the entire season. All are cordially invited, both ladies and gentlemen, to call and see for themselves at

THE STAR OF BETHLEHEM.

A correspondent of the Journal asks "where to look for the theory that the so-called 'Star of Bethlehem' is now a member of the starry family, and at stated periods returns to the sight of mortals?" The theory concerning the "Star of Bethlehem" is based on the poetical foundation, having little to support it. In the year 1572 Tycho Brahe, a Dutch astronomer, discovered a new star near Capri in the constellation Cassiopeia. It increased in brilliancy until it was as bright as Venus and could be easily seen at noonday. It continued to shine brightly for a month, then gradually grew dim and in sixteen months disappeared from view. It was looked upon as a new creation or a sun on fire, and the general opinion was that it would never again shine in the star depths.

Forty years later the telescope was invented. When it was turned to the position in the heavens occupied by the blazing star, a minute star was found near the identical spot. This telescopic star is still there and is doubtless the same one that blazed forth in 1572. The discovery that it existed led astronomers to search astronomical records and it was found that similar bright stars had appeared in the same region of the sky in 945 and 1564. Continuing back three periods from 945 we are brought to the near vicinity of the birth of Christ.

About twenty-four of these temporary stars have appeared in the last 2000 years, subject like the star in Cassiopeia, to sudden outbursts, followed by a return to their normal insignificance. They are classed as variable stars, subject to sudden outbursts and to sudden eruptions of blazing hydrogen which are followed by long periods of quiescence. The star was due in 1830; if it appears it will surely blaze forth by 1885. There is a possibility, therefore, that the long lost star of Bethlehem, the Pilgrim Star, the star of 1572, or Tycho B's star—for it is known by all these names—will once more become a shining wonder in the sky.

The Cable.

Gloucester, 22.—The Faraday has arrived and is proceeding to connect the cables.

Rockport, Mass., 22.—The arrival of the Faraday was greeted by 1,000 people and the firing of cannon. The shore end was landed, and will be connected with the section previously buoyed 250 miles east. Rockport citizens tendered a reception to the officers, but the latter declined till the cable was completed. When the Faraday steamed away this afternoon she will proceed to the buoy 250 miles northeast, where she will splice the cable, thus making a complete circle from Dover Bay to Rockport; then steam thirty miles east of Dover Bay, take up and splice the shore end and the end from Dover Bay. When this splice is made she sails for Ireland, paying out 1,000 miles of the deep sea section. She will then buoy the end of the section, and proceed to London for the remainder of the deep sea section. After taking this on board she will go back to her buoy and finish laying the deep sea section to the Irish coast.

Gould Talks.

New York, 22.—Gould says he has proof that outside investors are heavy buyers of Western Union. Two weeks ago stock was taken from the street and transferred. Concerning the market there is very little to say. Parties with capital are anxious to get securities at the present figures, and there is every reason to suppose we have passed through the troubles. He was talking with a prominent bank officer this morning. He declares we have nothing to fear from our associated banks, and each day brings a brighter outlook.

Casualties.

London, 22.—The steamer Castle of Palermo, for New York from Denia, Spain, jettisoned part of her cargo. Rough weather prevents assistance.

The British ship Syria was wrecked on Fiji Islands and seventy passengers were drowned.
